ROYAL COMMISSION

CONSIDERS WESTERN TRAFFIC

Chairman not Favorably Impressed With the Hudson Bay Route—Western Waterways Needing Improvement.

Winnipeg, June 6.—The royal commission set here yesterday on transportation matters, with Robt. Redford as chairman. The Winnipeg board of trade made a strong plea for the Hudson Bay route, but the chairman did not see it that way. He said there would not be enough freight, certainly not enough grain to carry, any way there would be no profit in it. He controverted E. L. Drewry's idea that the Almighty made the Red river for ocean steamers. Regarding the Saskatchewan, he said, "I have always heard that it was not an easy matter to make it navigable, as it was constantly shifting, and even when deepened would not be productive of much navigation. If the cost will be greater than the benefits received, that is a matter which we, as commissioners must look into. Have you data on this question, or would you recommend a survey?" Mr. Drewry, "That is the intention."

Mr. Bell: "At Edmonton the matter will be gone into more in detail."

E. L. Drewry, for the board of trade said, "The board desires to emphasize the desirability of having a rough survey made of the Saskatchewan, both north and south branches. While the main river and branches have been navigated by flat-bottomed steamers, this has been done irregularly, and at present steamers are plying only on the North Saskatchewan between Edmonton and Lloydminster, Battleford and Prince Albert. There are only two barriers in the main river and the north branch, the Grand Rapids, at the mouth of the river, where it empties into Lake Winnipeg, being of considerable importance. The board therefore strongly urges the commission to recommend to the government to have surveys made at an early date."

To the Winnipeg board the sitting was distinctly depressing. However, the chairman, notwithstanding his convictions, says he is willing to take some evidence this evening. As to water communication with the United States the board recommended to the commissioner that the Red river between Winnipeg and the boundary be cleared in order to connect navigable water here with the improved river stretches in the States upon which the American government has spent large sums. It is said the board cannot too strongly urge the importance and value thereof.

Western Canadian Weather

Minneapolis Farm Stock and Home: It takes a long time to uproot an erroneous impression. Because western Canada is north of the northern states, it has been natural to assume that it must be much colder there, but it is a fact that spring comes as early at Edmonton, 350 miles north of the boundary as it does in the latitude of Minneapolis. Plowing and seeding began in Alberta and western Assiniboia in the last part of February this year. The Chicago Daily News of March 3rd quoted some of the reports of early seeding in the neighborhood of Medicine Hat and Lethbridge, and editorially commented on them as follows:

"The American public's impressions regarding the Arctic terrors of the Manitoba climate are so deep-rooted and wide-spread that a few painful examples like those cited above can be contemplated without a sense of shock. It seems that in the severe climate of Medicine Hat the farmers cannot begin sowing their crops until the last week of February. It appears also that the Medicine Hat temperature has been ranging as low as from 10 to 20 degrees above zero, instead of from 30 to 40 degrees, as in this region."

The winters of western Canada are severe, but they are not uncomfortable, because the cold is dry and confined, there is no sloppy, muddy weather. The days are for the most part bright and clear and calm, and it is a pleasure to be out of doors.

Reported that the Czar Has Been Assassinated.

Berlin, June 6, 4.25 p.m.—It is reported on the Bourse that the Russian emperor has been assassinated. A private telegram to this effect is said to have been received by Mendelssohn, bankers of the Russian Government. No details are obtainable.

On the Bourse today Russians fell one-tenth per cent on the report that Emperor Nicholas had been assassinated, which was not confirmed when the Bourse closed. Berlin, 3.41 p.m.—Mendelssohn deny most positively receiving a telegram regarding the assassination of Emperor Nicholas. The report is otherwise not traceable.

London, 4 p.m.—While reports from Berlin regarding Czar's assassination are not credited, it is significant that no direct news has been received from St. Petersburg during the past twelve hours.

ZEMSTVOS MEETING

PROHIBITED BY AUTHORITIES

St. Petersburg Newspaper Men Fool the Police by Chartering a Steamer and Deliberating at Sea

St. Petersburg, June 6.—A meeting of the All-Russian Zemstvos called for today, for which 280 mayors and Reeves and other civic officials have arrived here, has been prohibited. There is great indignation and resentment and grave complications are again feared. The newspaper men of St. Petersburg fooled the authorities and chartered a steamer for a six hours' ride so as to be free from police interference. Strong resolutions were accordingly passed.

HAULTAIN WAS NON-COMMITTAL

C. W. Cross, who returned last night from Banff, attended the banquet of the Calgary board of trade last week, at which Mr. Haultain spoke. Mr. Cross does not consider Mr. Haultain's language as containing any announcement of his political intentions, his remarks in this connection being so worded as to be non-committal.

Freight Ran into a Herd of Cattle, and is Then Run into by Another Freight

Clutham, June 6.—A G. T. freight ran into a herd of cattle near here. A Wabash freight also crashed into the rear of the first train and an engine and caboose and nine cars are a total loss. A valuable race horse was killed and two racers seriously injured. Trainer Slocum was also hurt.

Alberta College

The contract for the addition to the Alberta College was awarded yesterday to the firm of McDonald & Johnstone, the amount of their tender being $11,306. There will be an addition to the present building on the east and north sides, frame, three storeys high with a brick foundation. This will enlarge the college making it possible to give residence to about 70 students. It will more than double the present capacity and will be a much needed improvement as at the present time the available space is too limited. Work on construction will be begun at once and the building completed this summer.

DR. BRYCE ATTACKED

For having dared to express his views on the autonomy bills Professor Bryce of Winnipeg receives a column of castigation from the Mail and Empire. Among other things, the organ says:

"The coercionists are trotting out all the old timber they can find with a view to bolstering up their cause. Their latest discovery is Prof. Bryce of Winnipeg, who is represented as 'a great authority on education' and as heartily in favor of coercion—only he wants it called by another name. Who is this professor of coercionist proclivities? Mr. Bryce has a history, which shows him to be about as stable as water, and as impartial as Clifford Sifton."

"Now, this same anti-coercion professor has been induced to issue what purports to be an interview approving, first of separate schools for the Northwest, and secondly, of the course of the Dominion Government in laying them out without the consent of the people. He actually says that he thinks they should be fixed upon the new provinces good and tight by the present legislation, because if they were not thus tied to the people of the West, there will be doubts as to whether they are compulsory, and, as a consequence, litigation. What is to be said of a man of this kind? First, thinking that his party favors them, he applauds separate schools in Manitoba. Then, when his party abolishes them, he says they were wrong in principle. Afterwards, when the Federal Government proposed to restore them, he comes out against coercion. Now, when his party leaders propose coercion and separate schools, he is in favor of both and is not ashamed to say so! What wonder that there should be scoffers at religion when a professor of religion so conducts himself?"

Were the nature of the attack the only consideration, Dr. Bryce might indeed be admitted to have said clearly for the temerity to hold views at variance with those of the Mail and Empire and for the audacity to express these honestly when requested to do so.

It has been made so clear by that journal, however, that it regards neither integrity of character, nor fulness of knowledge, unless these be enlisted in war against the Federal Government, that the assault upon Dr. Bryce proves nothing more than that the goodness of that gentleman would not permit him to join the devils which perform to the tune of the opposition organ and that his sincerity of character prevented him from dissembling when asked regarding this much-discussed question.

As the recent occupant of the highest position in the gift of the Presbyterian Church in Western Canada, and one of the leaders who stood for the abolition of clerically-controlled schools in Manitoba, neither the character, judgment nor purpose of Dr. Bryce is likely to suffer in the public estimation from the sneers of the Mail and Empire.

Mr. Haultain's Independence

(Calgary Albertan)

The appeal which Mr. Haultain made for non-partisanship in the new province had a most peculiar sound. When one realizes that it was the same Mr. Haultain, who a little over a year ago accepted the honorary presidency of the Conservative Association of the North West Territories at a convention called for the very purpose of introducing party politics into the North West legislature, and consented to the resolution which was passed by such an enormous vote, one begins to believe that there are two Mr. Haultains.

Mr. Haultain referred to the virtues of the North West assembly, which he maintained were inspired by the non-partisanship of members of it. Why then did Mr. Haultain abandon the non-partisan form and consent to introduce party into the legislature? If the non-partisan form of government was so excellent, so much better for the country, why was he willing to throw it over and take to the form, which according to Mr. Haultain, now, is the breeder of all evils in administration? Was Mr. Haultain at Moose Jaw willing to sacrifice his country in order to gain party advantage? Or is Mr. Haultain now desirous of saving the country when he understands that he can gain no party advantage by its sacrifice?

Until Mr. Haultain explains away the Moose Jaw convention the people of Alberta will not consider seriously his appeal for non-partisanship in the new legislature.

To the system and not to the men Mr. Haultain gave the credit of the successful administration in the North West Legislature. To the men and not to the system should the credit of success be given. Let us take two examples. While the North West Territories with its legislature of non-partisan members were working out their destiny in the strictest honesty and unexcelled virtue, our next door neighbor, British Columbia under a similar system of government was experiencing the grossest form of government and the most corrupt administration. Non-partisanship did not save British Columbia.

Another example. While the North West Territories under a system of government without parties was giving to the Territories a government of great efficiency and most scrupulous integrity; in Ontario for 25 years Sir Oliver Mowat and his worthy supporters were giving to that province an administration, which can be described in no other words but ideal and during that time there was the very keenest fight between the parties. The Mowat government is receiving the credit for the good work done, but in truth a competent and very efficient opposition should share the credit of the same.

These two examples show that efficient government is not so much a matter of system as of men.

The Albertan is convinced that under our form of administration the party system is the most satisfactory. Mr. Haultain spoke very feelingly of the men who came as independents to the Territorial legislature who were inspired for the good of the country alone and were not concerned with imaginary party differences. But Mr. Haultain forgot to say that in other countries there are men in legislatures with as great ability with as keen a sense of right, with as great a zeal for the truth who are selected at the party caucus and elected as party representatives.

The party system is the more desirable for a number of reasons.

In the first place it furnishes an able and efficient opposition, which the non-party system does not furnish and the greatest blessing to a country next to that of a good government is a strong and determined opposition.

In the second place it establishes a more ideal system of legislation. Mr. Haultain would have the people believe that under the party system there is continued war between the two parties with drawn battles weekly over the issues, and skirmishes every day over the smaller subjects and that all the time the representatives are like business men and never like red business men. That is not correct. The business man is quite at home in a party house. There are debates upon the burning questions upon which the parties are in issue on principle; there is a careful watch on both sides upon every bit of legislation introduced into the house, but upon perhaps the most important to come before the house, there is no party discussion or party division. Men are still men in the party system and the idea that they are in a game of mimic warfare is as ridiculous as it is untrue.

The party system results in attracting the best men in the community. Under the non-party system it is free and easy, with a rough and tumble fight, party usually in a disguised manner edging in with a rabble campaign with personal issues and no one ever knows what the result will be, but the better canvasser usually wins out.

Under the party system, on the other hand, each party for its own protection picks out the very best men available. With a party opposition at his back a good man will take the field, though with no organization at his back he will not see it. The result is that under the non-party system we frequently find a number of indifferent candidates in the field where in the party system you are bound to see two good men in the race.

There was a good reason why as Territories we should be independent of the parties. But now that we are starting out in life anew, we believe that it would be best for them to be since if in addition to an able administration the new province should be provided with an efficient opposition.

Over 100,000 of these machines have been sold in the U.S. within the last few years at the same price which is being charged for any other standard typewriter. This proves conclusively that the OLIVER is the very best machine made regardless of price.

As there is now in Montreal a factory devoted exclusively to the manufacture of this machine, it can be bought in Canada for the same price at which it is sold in the U.S. without adding from $25 to $30 to cover duty and charges, as do all the other standard writers.

This should be a very attractive proposition to any purchaser of writing machines.

They Want the North Pole

New York Sun: The knowledge that a new and resolute attempt is to be made by an American explorer to reach a point further north than any that has hitherto been attained, is doubtless, accountable for a statement made the other day in the Ottawa House of Commons by the Premier of the Dominion in the course of a debate on the organization of the far north lands. Sir Wilfrid Laurier had observed, he said, on recent maps that American names had been given to certain territories in the far north, which, in his judgment, are under British jurisdiction. That jurisdiction, he added, would be asserted, and Americans would not be permitted to "take a position in these lands." In other words, Sir Wilfrid Laurier does not recognize the existence of a right by discovery. Are we to conclude that if the new American expedition, which is to pursue its voyage northward through Baffin Bay and Smith Strait, should achieve its coveted object, the north pole itself would be claimed as Ottawa's British property, and the Stars and Stripes would not be suffered to wave there without protest?

"Admitting, for the sake of argument, that a tract of land exists at and around the north pole, we can see that the question of its ultimate ownership is complicated by the further inquiry whether such land is an island encircled by the Polar Sea or is connected by an isthmus with land previously known and claimed. We may take for granted that in the former event the validity of the discoverer's title to ownership would not be disputed. Even if the doctrine of "spheres of influence," which avowedly was formulated by the great powers in conference with reference to Africa alone, should be deemed applicable by analogy to the North American continent, it would not apply to territory separated from it by an ocean.

"Let us suppose, then, that the region environing the geographical pole should be linked with Franz Josef Land, to which Austria has acquired a claim by discovery; or with Spitzbergen, which is claimed by Sweden, though it was known to the Russians long before its discovery by Barents; with Greenland, which belongs to Denmark; or with British North America, which, as we have seen, claims Grinnell Land and all the more northerly points yet discovered on the coast bordering on the west the straits which have Greenland for their eastern boundary. Under such circumstances, would there be even any technical ground for the assumption that the north pole would belong, not to the discoverer, but rather to the power of which he is a citizen or subject, but to the power with which the the circum-polar tract proves to be more connected? It seems clear that in the absence of any international agreement regarding spheres of influence within the arctic zone, and in the absence of any express treaty stipulations, the question would be answered in pursuance of the doctrine propounded and acted upon in the sixteenth century and later by England, France, Holland, Sweden, Denmark and Russia, the doctrine that discovery gives a valid title, though such title may be lost by non-user and needs to be confirmed by occupation. That any treaty between England on the one hand and France, Sweden, Russia or Denmark on the other by which British North America is admitted to extend northward as far as the pole we do not believe; for treaty framers would hardly choose for a terminus a geographical point which, conceivably, may be connected by land, not only with British North America, but also with Greenland, and perhaps also to territory to which Russia or Sweden might lay claim.

"Even if there were any technical ground for the claim that the north pole will belong to Great Britain if the circum-polar tract shall prove to be linked by land to British North America, it would be mischievous and odious, from a scientific and moral point of view, to assert such a claim in advance, and thus discourage the aspirations and efforts of explorers. It is in the interests of international science that the attempt to ascertain the precise location of the north pole is made, and it is the duty of enlightened countries to promote and not impede such high aiming endeavors. It ever too, a moral right to ownership ought to be conceded to the exhibition of fortitude, daring and self-sacrifice, such a right must be held to rest in those who, in the cause of science, have confronted the hardships, the privations and the dangers of polar expeditions. Dearly bought at the cheapest, will be the honor of discovering the north pole; and he who accomplishes the feat should not be robbed of the privilege of planting there the flag of his own country.

Meanwhile it is quite possible that the north pole will prove to be surrounded by water. In that case, of course, there will be no land for anybody to claim.

WINTER WHEAT SUCCESSFUL IN ALBERTA

F. T. Fisher, secretary Edmonton board of trade writes as follows in the Orange Judd Farmer:

I recently noticed in the columns of Orange Judd Farmer an interesting article appreciative of the agricultural resources of Alberta, in which it appears that the writer was evidently well informed in regard to this country, but had fallen into quite common and pardonable error as to the production of wheat in Alberta. After speaking of the capabilities of southern Alberta in the production of fall or winter wheat, I notice he writes: "Northern Alberta is suited to spring wheat and mixed farming," conveying the impression, which was evidently in the writer's mind, that northern Alberta is not suited for the production of fall wheat.

As this might be a matter of importance to prospective settlers, I would correct this erroneous impression. The soil and climate conditions in northern Alberta are eminently suited to the successful production of fall wheat. Discussing this a day or two ago with a gentleman of very extensive experience in the milling business both here and in eastern Canada, I was informed that the fall wheat grown here is of the very highest grade, in fact some of the best wheat the gentleman had ever handled in 33 years' experience of fall wheat grown near Edmonton. On inquiry among some of the farmers who have tried it, I found that fall wheat has been eminently successful here and is a crop. As an instance John Wilson, near Edmonton, bought from the Dowling Milling Co. here four pounds of Kansas red winter wheat for seed in the summer of 1903. The following year he sold to the same company from this seed 120 bushels of wheat, weighing 66 pounds to the measured bushel.

The reason the fall wheat has not been grown more extensively here is because this district has made such a great success of spring wheat, as the milling qualities of which our farmers have had rather more faith than in the fall varieties. This success which has attended the wheat industry in Northern Alberta is indicated by the fact that there are now five well equipped flour mills in operation within twenty miles from Edmonton, and a sixth is now building at St. Albert, none miles away.

Incidentally I might mention that the term "northern Alberta" as applied to the district of which the city of Edmonton is the centre, will shortly be of different significance. When the new province of Alberta comes into existence on July 1, 1905, Edmonton will be considerably south of the centre line of the new province, and the Edmonton district must henceforth be known as Central Alberta.

CURING THE FILLER

THE Pharaoh filler I select in Manicuregus-- Province of Santa Clara, Cuba, is generally harvested in February.

The plants are cut down at daybreak-- allowed to remain until eleven o'clock in the morning--until they are properly wilted--then taken to curing houses for drying.

After they are thoroughly dried they are allowed to become moist through atmospheric humidity and then made into "hands." Four of these hands constitute a carat, eighty carats make a bale.

After allowing it to age for three full years, in order to develop its superb fragrance and aroma, I make it up into "Pharaoh."

That's why there is a taste and odor of genuine tobacco in my Pharaoh Cigar.

WHAT COSTS MOST

WHOLE lot of people fancy the cigar business is a snap! They figure out that all you need is some cases of tobacco, a few cigar makers, and the name of some stage favorite or prominent man.

The quality of the filler does not interest them at all--the binder is beneath their notice--but the wrapper and the name is all important.

They can sell this kind of cigar at $55.00 a thousand, give a gold watch into the bargain, and then make a good size profit.

The principal cost of Pharaoh is in tobacco--I buy the best filler in the world--a Cuban leaf--one I select myself from the best of the Manicuregus district, in the Province of Santa Clara--a Connecticut broad leaf as binder, the most expensive in the world--and I import a clear leaf Sumatra from Holland as wrapper.

I secure by this means a superb cigar, a fragrant, even smoker--very palatable--very superior to the ordinary run of cigars.

LINER GOES ASHORE

Sea Running too High for Boats to Live and Passengers are Entertained for the Passengers.

New York, June 6.—A big steamer, supposed to be a passenger liner, went ashore last night at Fireport, Long Island. It is impossible to learn her name, as the sea is running too high for boats to get near her. She is in a perilous position, and there is much anxiety and speculation as to who she is and what will be her fate.

CANADIAN BRANCH A. S. OF E.

Editor Bulletin

Dear Sir: A very important meeting of the above farmers society was held on June 3, by courtesy of Mayor MacKenzie in the council chamber of the new city hall.

Delegates were present from the various unions representing a large extent of country.

It was decided to reorganize the executive committee giving representation to all the unions and to meet the growing needs of the work which is pressing upon us and which clearly shows from direct correspondence that the farmers all over this vast country are keenly alive to the fact that something must be done and that quickly to prevent widespread suffering among the agricultural community.

This society is built on solid business foundations, to raise prices of all farm produce up to a profitable point, and just as soon as our organization becomes known sufficiently we shall be able to obtain them.

It speaks in the highest possible way for our plan when we say that no faults have yet been found in our plan, only with the farmers and the farmers are very fast getting in line to back up the plan, simply because there is money in it for them. The business men are also ready to back it up, because there is good money in it for them also and we are glad of the number of words of praise we have had so far.

The new executive will soon be ready for business and one of their first efforts will be to make out a list of prices for our next crop and we earnestly request every farmer to watch for this list and govern himself accordingly.

Thanking you for space, I am
Yours truly,
WILL J. KEEN,
Sec. Exec. Com.

ST. ALBERT MATTERS

Editor Bulletin:

A few weeks ago an article appeared in the Bulletin, inviting the attention of the public to the remarkable manner in which business is being transacted by our town council. The article charged them with having sacrificed nearly $900 of the people's money, and yet they failed to reply to the charge. When questioned by the citizens, their answer was to the effect that Mr. Pommerleau would employ town labor whenever possible and thus the town would be fully recompensed for the extra $900 given to Mr. Pommerleau. Now, I believe it my privilege and well as my duty to make known to the public to what extent the laborers of St. Albert are to profit by this new undertaking. I am a resident of St. Albert of twenty-five years' standing. I have been employed by citizens of St. Albert and elsewhere. I have yet to hear any fault found for neglect of duty. When work on the foundation of the new mill commenced, I asked for work and was accepted. Everything went along smoothly until Friday last when I was notified by the foreman that my services were no longer required. Was I dismissed because I was neglecting my work or not capable of doing it? No; I happened to occur the displeasure of one of the councillors, Mr. Houdreau, and his vindictive spirit caused him to use his influence to have me dismissed.

After such a wanton exhibition of tyranny, the full-minded people of St. Albert are at a loss to know if they are citizens of a great country, the watchwords of which are British fair play and equal rights to all, or whether they have been secretly transported to the empire of the Czar of the Russians.

Yours respectfully,

W.M. FITZGERALD.

St. Albert, June 5.

WHERE WAS THE LION?

In view of the failure of Mr. Bennett to appear at his meeting in Woodstock on Saturday evening, the following despatch which appeared in the Calgary Herald Saturday afternoon borders on the ludicrous, not to say the ridiculous:

Woodstock, June 3.—A big political meeting will be held here tonight, when Bennett and Oliver meet. Bennett has been trying to get on the same platform with Oliver, and, although billed in London, Borden when passing through arranged it as Bennett desired. There is great interest in the outcome. Bennett's fearless expressions have made him the lion of the hour.

MARTYRDOM DESCRIBED

Kingston Man tells how he Suffered and How he was Released.

"For years a martyr," is how Chas. H. Powell of 105 Raglan Street, Kingston, begins his story. "A martyr to chronic constipation, but now I am free from it and all through the use of Dr. Leonhardt's Anti-Pill."

Many who are now suffering from this complaint will be glad to learn from Mr. Powell's story that there is hope for the most stubborn case. He continues: "I was induced to try Anti-Pill by reading the testimony of some one who had been cured of constipation by it. I had suffered for eighteen years and had taken tons of stuff recommended as cures but which made me worse rather than better. Doctors told me there was no cure for me."

Dr. Leonhardt's Anti-Pill is for sale by all Druggists or by The Wilson-Eyle Co., Limited, Niagara Falls, Ont.

Mr. Powell will verify every word of these statements.

An Advt. in the "BULLETIN."

AN APOLOGY

Regarding a contribution sent to this paper some time since, from Pembina River, the Bulletin is in receipt of the following letter, which are sufficiently self-explanatory:

To the editor of the Bulletin—In regard to a piece sent to your paper published May 19 about a picnic on the Pembina, it was sent by me with Thomas Shepherd's name signed to it. I would like to explain it, Mr. Shepherd wrote the part concerning the religious debate, but I added the horse racing, etc., without his knowledge or consent.

The questions were altered so as to spoil the meaning.

Below is a copy of what he wishes to defend.

1. To me the Scriptures clearly teach that the soul is not immortal.

2. That the wages of sin is death and not eternal consciousness in torment.

3. That there will be a future probation for the world who will be restored to perfect human beings, but the spirits will be like their Lord, divine nature.

4. That no sect is the church of Christ, but is formed in the Scriptures, as anti-Christ.

PAUL ROSS.

Editor Bulletin: The above is a true copy of the subjects that I intended to speak on at the picnic, but was entirely unaware that there would be any such thing as horse racing or dancing. Since Mr. Ross has made such a mistake I withdraw from speaking at any such place, but am ready to defend the above Scriptural statements at any suitable place. As I do not give prizes for the fastest horse or the best waltzer, neither have I any use for anything of the kind, but will give $100 freely to anyone finding in the Scriptures the expression "immortal soul."

T. J. SHEPHERD.

Does Not Represent the West

Lethbridge News: R. P. Bennett of Calgary, at the invitation of Leader Borden, has gone east to "stump" the constituency for the Conservative candidate. Mr. Bennett is a speaker whose eloquence causes him almost an orator, and will no doubt make things happen in London. It must be admitted however that Mr. Bennett's attitude on the autonomy policy is out of harmony with that of the people of the West generally. He violently opposes the idea of Ottawa administering our lands and minerals, and the simple mention of Laurier's school policy is sufficient to send him into a perfect storm of denunciation of the "separatists." At-though he knows that the great majority of the people of the new provinces are almost unanimous in their expression of satisfaction with the government's "generous cash subsidy in lieu of lands" while as for the school question—Everybody here knows we have none.

EDMONTON'S CASE

The Calgary Albertan publishes the following letter from F. T. Fisher, secretary of the Edmonton board of trade, regarding the new Alberta constitutions:

"So many misstatements on the subject have been so constantly reiterated by the press of Calgary, that those who have not investigated the matter particularly may be easily misled by accepting the misstatements as facts. It is the more easily excusable as a superficial reference to the map, without supplementary knowledge would tend to convey a similar impression, as settlement usually follows the railway lines and that district having the greater number of railways is expected to have a proportionately larger population. This does not hold good at all, however, in Alberta for the reason that the C.P.R. was built through Alberta entirely without regard to the possibilities of settlement.

"While an opinion on the matter must be largely in the nature of a guess until a census is taken, it is a fairly safe prediction that the next census will show that, leaving out the central city in each case, a circle drawn around Edmonton at a distance of say fifty miles, will show nearly double the rural population that would be contained with a similar circle drawn about the city of Calgary. While this is for want of census figures, only a statement of opinion based on fairly intimate knowledge of the country, the following facts might be mentioned in support of it:

"Taking a line drawn through the town of Red Deer, which is just half way between Edmonton and Calgary, as the division, the 1904 crop bulletins of the Territorial department of agriculture show that there were north of that line nearly two and a half times as many acres of crop as there were south of it. There are nearly twice as many school districts north of that line as south of it. There are nearly three times as many local improvement districts in the north and over twenty per cent. more post offices. The comparatively slight preponderance of post offices in the south is accounted for by the fact that the south has 830 miles of railway, as against 115 miles in the north at present.

"Surely, in dividing the constituencies, some allowance for future development should have been made, though that does not seem to have been done. Obviously the most rapid and immediate development will be along the Saskatchewan, and enormous ridings, such as Vermilion will in a year or two be easily entitled to two or three members. It should be remembered that Southern Alberta has had a railway for twenty-three years and has enjoyed the most ample railway facilities for many years. For fifteen years Calgary has been a railway centre, and has had all the advantages of large railway payrolls, and owing to its shipping facilities has been a wholesale centre. On the other hand, for fifteen years Edmonton has been at the end of a branch line, and the greater part of the Saskatchewan valley in Alberta is without railroad communication to this day. The population of Calgary ought to be at least three or four times that of Edmonton. But notwithstanding this great disparity, in railway advantages, it appears from figures recently published in the Calgary Herald that the population of Calgary is about ten thousand six hundred, while that of Edmonton—I include Strathcona, which though a separate municipality, must be considered with Edmonton—is stated eleven thousand four hundred. Only a great preponderance in settlement and rural population could account for the growth in the northern towns. The rich lands of the Saskatchewan valley, while without rail communication has attracted more settlement than the south. Is it not reasonable to assume that as soon as opened up by railways which will be immediately, there will almost at once be an overwhelming preponderance of population in the northern part of the present territory, or Central Alberta of the future.

Strathcona and Edmonton will play the first league game of lacrosse this evening on the ball grounds on Second street. Two preliminary games have been played by these teams this season and this far they stand equally matched each having won a game. They both recognize the benefit to be derived in the league race, in getting a good start, so the spectators this evening will undoubtedly see one of the hardest played and fastest games of the season. The public expressed themselves at the Fort in regard to rough play and our team promises this evening that as far as they are concerned the game will be a clean one and one of the kind that everybody will be pleased to see. Admission will be charged to get on the grounds, with an extra charge for the grand stand.

The following men will compose the local team: Harper, Harris, the local team: Harper, Harris, Parnford, Wright, Glass, Morris, Maloney.
